

MORE THAN A CAREER

at Goodwill San Antonio

Remember when you were in high school and were asked, “What do you want to be?” Did you have an answer? Several students visiting Goodwill San Antonio as part of SA Works' third annual Job Shadow Day answered Physical Therapist, Doctor, Attorney, Art Curator, and the military, while several others were still contemplating their future career path.

Led by the Goodwill San Antonio High School Career Navigator Team, students were welcomed by our President and CEO, Kevin J. Bergner, before being divided into smaller groups to explore careers in Finance, Marketing, and Risk Management.

Each presenter spoke about career paths available in each field as well as provided insight into their daily responsibilities associated with their position. More importantly, Goodwill staff shared a common reason why they work for a non-profit stating,

“All of us choose to work at Goodwill because we want to serve something bigger than ourselves.”

Sessions were held at one of our Good Careers Academy locations where we offer affordable certification training programs in high-demand career fields. Students gained a firsthand experience as they listened to presenters and participated in hands-on activities in our Pharmacy Technician classroom and our medical and computer labs.

The student's visit to Goodwill San Antonio was nothing short of an eye-opening experience. Not only did students gain a better understanding of the opportunities available in each field, they also learned a valuable lesson – the importance of giving back to our community.
